DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

Claims 1-25 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 12-15, 19 and 25 are rejected, as understood, under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Burkinshaw et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,007,537).

Burkinshaw et al. discloses a device that includes a first mounting part (20) defining a receiving channel (62) that has a longitudinal axis and the mounting part further defines at least one slot (22) therethrough at an angle oblique to the longitudinal axis of the receiving channel (82). The first mounting part defines two intersecting slots (22 and 24) in the region of the receiving channel each having an acute but different angles relative to the longitudinal axis of the receiving channel, where the second mounting part (12) receivable on the first mounting part (20) has at least one slot (64) arranged. The second mounting part also defines a receiving channel where the first and second mounting parts face each other when second mounting (12) part is received on first mounting part (12). Burkinshaw et al. also discloses that each first and second mounting parts include guide elements (18 and 60) positioning the parts relative to each other such that the slots and V-shaped receiving channels face each other and are arranged congruently. With regard the statement of intended use and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Burkinshaw et al., which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack "read on" something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983). Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 16-18 and 20-24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed November 23, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to Applicant's argument that Burkinshaw et al. fails to disclose a receiving channel "for receiving the bone pieces to be cut" and the slot is arranged "for guiding a saw blade introduced through said slot for cutting a bone piece received in said receiving channel to a predetermined wedge shape usable for displacement osteotomy, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987). Applicant is reminded that intended use and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims.

In response to Applicant's argument that Burkinshaw et al. fails to show the slots are parallel to the V-shaped opening. Burkinshaw et al. shows the receiving channel and two slots at an angle acute/oblique angle in reference to the longitudinal axis. It appears that the Applicant wants the angle of the slot to be oblique in reference to the horizontal direction of the longitudinal axis as opposed to the vertical direction of the longitudinal axis as Burkinshaw et al. shows.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
